

2010 FJ Radiator support kit RSDK-1

This kit was designed to eliminate interference between the front sway bar and the radiator support brackets that were added to the FJ in 2010. The spacers are installed with supplied longer bolts and washers as pictured to provide the needed clearance after the sway bar relocates are installed. This kit eliminates the need for the skid plate spacers included in the diff drop and allows the skid plate to be removed and replaced without having to deal with the 4 small spacers every time.
